

As I said every artist who showed, showed big, from the Oozie Blues to the big man Alastair Greene to another good friend, Francesca Capasso of 'Francesca and the Flames' fame now 'singing from her soul' with fellow diva's and 'Scorch Sisters' Alicia Morgan, and guitarist Kimberly Allison, (no stranger to SoCal blues audiences throughout the years via her work with Joe Houston, Zola Moon and The Shirelles among others), wowed the RBF2 audience with her playing on opening uptempo shuffle "Blues For Barnaby" and a "scorching" (excuse the pun!) guitar solo on ballad, "Still Remember."

Alicia is an awesome keyboard player and a computer wiz kid, give her two clicks and she'll have you listening live from the seat right next to hers via internet podcast. Francesca will take your heart if you let her (and you will) so be ready for these three Hollywood hipsters because they'll blue you away. I really dig these gals and I think you will too so keep your eyes open for them.

<http://www.ameriblues.com/2011/06/02/festivals-festivals-and-relay-for-life-the-so-cal-season-starts-with-a-bang/>